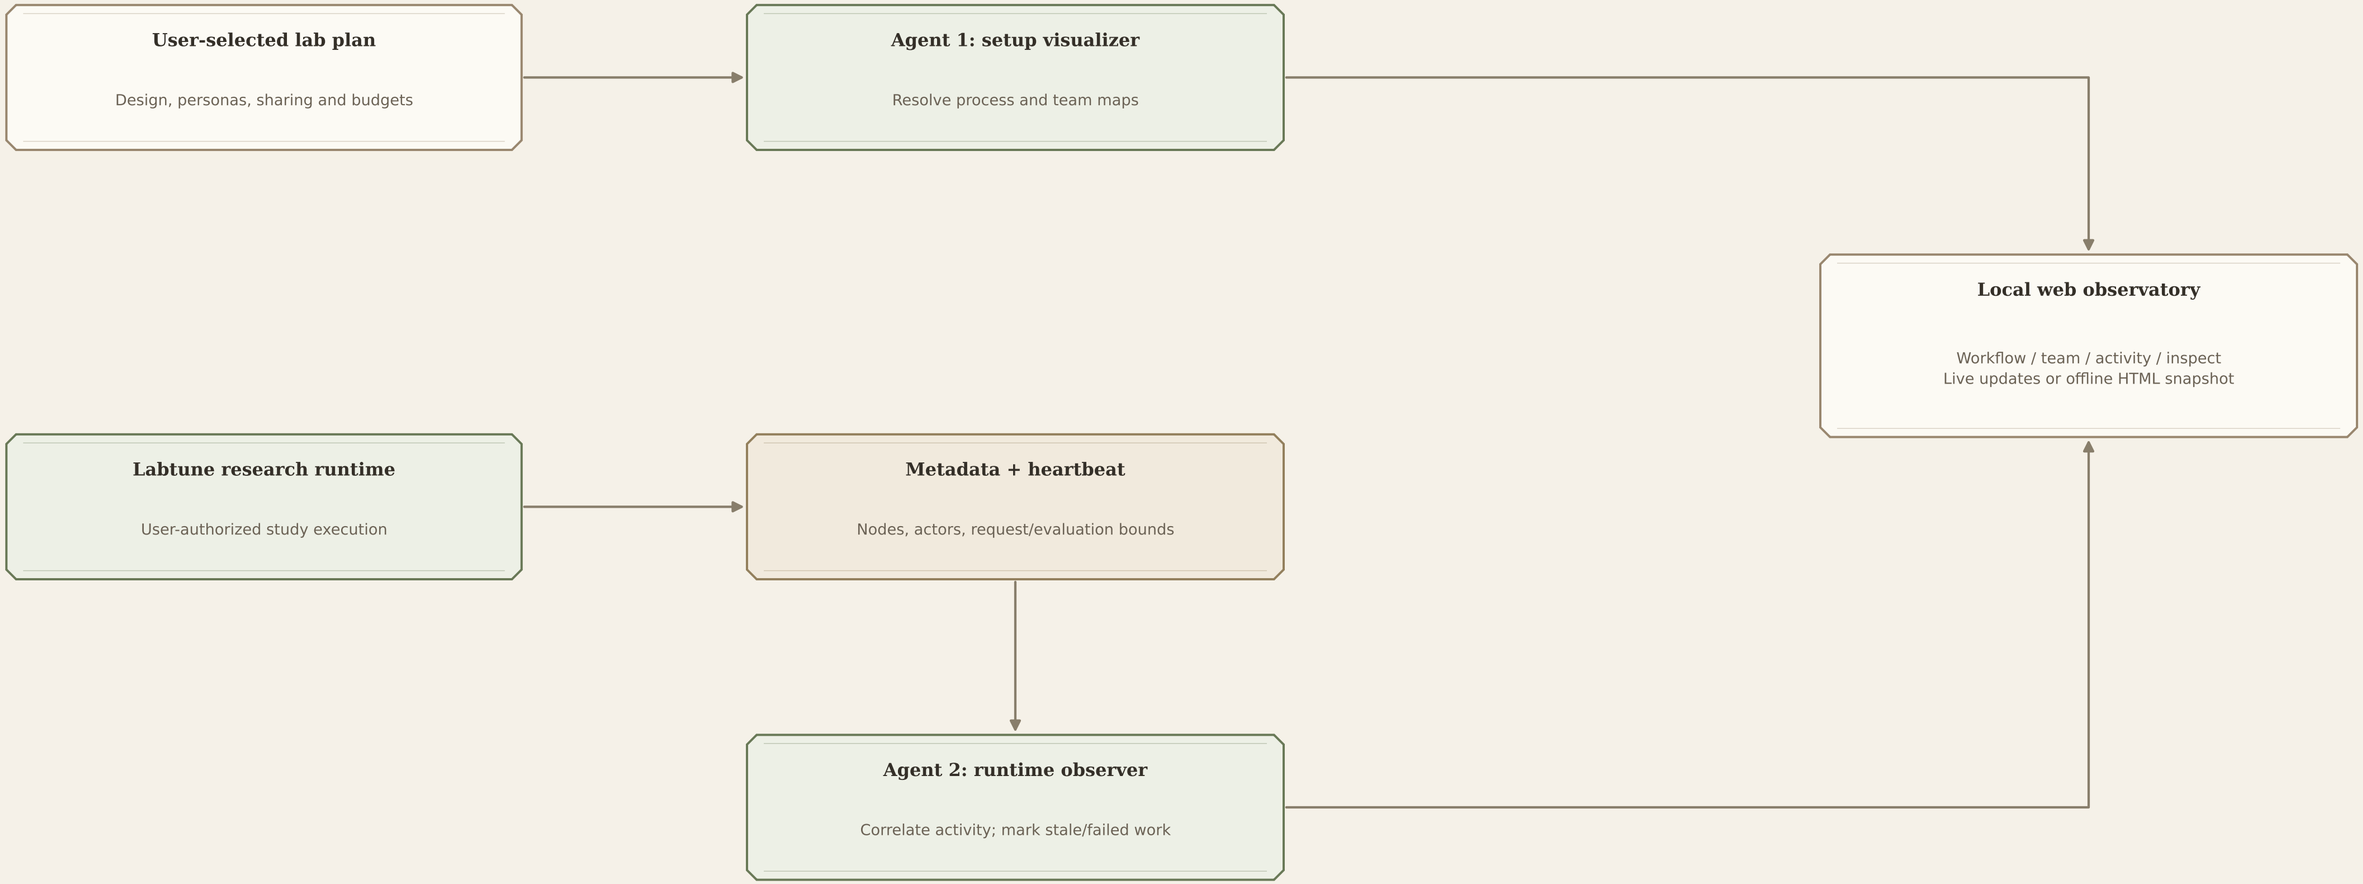
Optional lab observatory — two local agents

The user opts into a local web view of the chosen setup and observed computation.



Both agents are read-only and make no model calls. No prompts, answers, source, seeds or research measurements enter the view.